Hello Readers,
Welcome to our Newsletter "The Chenabians" for the session ending March 2018. We will have a quick recap of the achievements of our students in and outside CCJ and a glance at the events that define student life at Chenab College Jhang. After a sneak peak of every event updated regularly on the Facebook page Chenab College Jhang [Official], we offer this publication as an embodiment of student affairs and an appreciation of the talent of our dynamic and dexterous Chenabians.

The new session (2019-20) has already begun. Admission tests and interview process for classes Nursery to Intermediate have been active. Students of O/A Level and Intermediate are waiting in the wings to appear for their board exams. We wish them Good Luck for the examination and for a bright future ahead.

We also cherish the loving memory of Mr Aslam Afaq Janjua, who passed away in December 2018. His valuable art and calligraphy skills had undoubtedly been adding to the beauty of our institution for 23 years.

We hope you find this journal encapsulating and exciting.

WARM WELCOME

It is the matter of great elation to render effusive welcome to Mr Muhammad Tahir Wattoo, Deputy Commissioner Jhang/ Chairman Jhang Educational Trust who has assumed the charge recently.

TRANSFORMING CREATIVITY INTO EXCELLENCE

Enhancing extra-curricular activities is truly paramount in student development. It nurtures the students in a more rounded way. A Science, Art and Calligraphy Exhibition was held in the college to show the capabilities of the students. Students from grade III to grade XII made working models for Biology, Chemistry and Physics, including wind mill generating electricity, air soft rocket, moving robot, series circuit using graphite, acid rain model, security system, and many more. Art and Calligraphy Exhibition included paintings of Mr Aslam Afaq Janjua (late) and students from various classes. Visitors appreciated the creativity of the minds and beauty of their creations.

Clean and Green, a Perfect Dream

On 23rd March, a tree plantation campaign was organized in the college premises as a part of "Clean Green Pakistan" which is a drive to tackle global warming and pollution launched by the Prime Minister of Pakistan. Pakistan Day Celebration also included a vibrant event in which the students presented speeches, tableau and national songs with great zeal and zest in commemoration of the adoption of Lahore Resolution in 1940. Hafiz Shaukat Ali (Deputy Commissioner Jhang, Chairman Jhang Educational Trust), Maulana Muawiya Azam Tariq (Member of Provincial Assembly of Punjab), Nawab Babar Khan Sial (Chairman District Council Jhang), Hafiz Atta ur Rehman (DPO Jhang), Sultan Sikander Bharwana (Ex MPA) and several other notable dignitaries graced the occasion.

GLITZ AND GLAMOUR

A Bonfire event for the students of Intermediate part II who were passing out from the institution took place to rekindle memories and honor the students for the last time as they bode goodbye to the college to be ready for the challenges of university life. The students were dressed up in eye catching clothes and celebrated their time with the teachers who had been by their side throughout their journey at CCJ. Scrumptious food, energetic performances and speeches that evoked nostalgia added glitter to the beauty of the night.

LEARN, TEACH AND INFLUENCE

Teachers are well-learned and knowledgeable figures in the eyes of the students in their respective fields but they still never ignore the importance of self-improvement, which ultimately benefits the students. A Teacher Training Workshop for teachers from teaching blocks T3, T4, T5 and T7 was organized by Prof Dr Muhammad Naem Khalid (CEO Cantab Publications, PhD Cambridge University, Ex DG HEC, Dean Islamia University Peshawar) and teacher trainer Miss Madiha Nawaz. More than 100 participants attended the workshop.

Another Workshop regarding Countdown Mathematics was held by OUP. Mr Mehmood Iqbal was the facilitator of the session.

Karwan-e-Urdu by Paramount Books (PVT) Ltd also arranged a training session for the teachers of T3. Professor Ali Akbar, writer of Karwan-e-Urdu series, was the resource person. Such trainings improve teaching and communication skills of the teachers.

A WHALE OF A TIME

The college's flagship event in terms of importance, the ANNUAL PARENTS DAY was a colorful event. No different than every other year, the day was a plethora of mini events such as plays, dances and tableaux held for the amusement of audience. Prize Distribution was one of the many facets of the day. Students who had achieved academic positions in their classes and those who had brought laurels to the institution in other competitions were honored and appreciated by shields, certificates and cash prizes being given to them. The teachers behind their success were also venerated as they were the ones to hold these delicate hands and lead them to the difficult roads successfully. Hafiz Shaukat Ali, Deputy Commissioner Jhang Chairman Jhang Educational Trust, was the Chief Guest of the occasion.

Fun, Food and Frenzy

The hectic schedule of the entire year comes to a fun-filled pause in the form of the most-awaited Funfair Day. Funfair at Chenab College Jhang symbolizes a day full of energy, feast and fun. Children and adults alike are seen happy with the euphoria of riding their favourite Ferris wheel, eating their favourite 'gol gappay', and enjoying unending selfie sessions. There are many remarkable sights to witness, things to do and fun to catch on Funfair.

CONFIDENT COMMUNICATORS

Perhaps Chenab College's most impressive achievement is its long pedigree of great debaters for a long time. To celebrate and encourage the same spirit of oratory in students from all over the country, CCJ organizes an All Pakistan Bilingual Declamation Contest every year. This year, students from 20 institutions participated in the grand event. Muhammad Awais Wajid (Air Base College Sargodha) and Ehsan Mushtaq (PAF College Risalpur) amazed the audience with their eloquence and style in English and Urdu Declamation respectively, by gaining first positions in both categories. The Overall Trophy and cash prize was earned by the team from PAF College Risalpur.

SPREADING PEACE

Renowned religious scholar Pirzada Muhammad Raza Saqib Mustafai was the guest speaker. His lecture revolved around the life and teachings of our beloved Prophet Hazrat Muhammad (peace be upon him). The conference was followed by lucky draw for Umrah tickets for teaching and non-teaching staff separately.

STANDING WITH THE FREEDOM FIGHTERS

Kashmir, famously referred to as the jugular vein of Pakistan, faces many atrocities which are widely condemned by Muslims all over the world. Like every year, a ceremony to show solidarity with the people of Kashmir was arranged in the college premises with great fervor and spirit. Speeches in Urdu and English delivered by the students and teachers as well as national songs sung on Kashmir Day reflected the passion and warmth in the heart of young Chenabians. A photography and art exhibition was also held to show solidarity with those who gave away their lives in this conflict and are still suffering.

GIFT OF KNOWLEDGE

It is important to educate the students with knowledge of Quran and let them learn Islam. Former Pakistani Cricketer Saeed Anwar visited Chenab College Jhang and delivered a Lecture on Islamic Values to the students. Islamic education instills the foundations of Islam in children and keeps Islam in their lives to provide social, academic, spiritual and welfare support which reflects a positive change in them.
